About Content

Company info: Turbo Charged Outfitters specializes in unique aerodynamic parts for multiple makes and brands of vehicles. What makes our company special is we offer lightweight aluminum composite material that is much more durable and sturdy than the typical fiberglass material most other companies use. With our product you do not need to worry about scratching your aero easily as our product is powder coated in a 3 stage process making the surface very durable to weather and road elements. You also do not need to worry about scrapping or rocks destroying the splitter like you would with the similar fiberglass aero. Our aluminum technology makes it so your aero parts can take a serious beating.

Shipping: All shipping expenses are paid by you the customer along with taxes however we do have a deal where if you spend more than Xx$ we will cover the shipping costs on our behalf.

Returns: If you receive a damaged product due to shipping and handling, please go to our contact page or email us images and as much details as you can on the damaged product. We will then contact you back on return shipping details and send you out a replacement once we receive the return shipment tracking number.

FAQ: You can contact Turbo Charged Outfitters to request an order update anytime by emailing us, someone from our sales team will be happy to assist you.
